

Tips for Effective Tabling

- Make sure you have permission to table wherever you are.
- Choose a location that is central and safe to ensure that your event gets a lot of attention.
- Ask family members, teachers, or friends if they will help you table. It is a good idea to have 2-3 people at your table and at least one adult.
- Be open and friendly and don't be afraid to ask passersby if they would like to hear about your cause.
- Make sure you are very knowledgeable about the subject so if people have questions you can easily answer them.
- Have something eye-catching at your table. Your video is a great tool to get peoples' attention.
- Make sure that everyone leaves with some new knowledge and/or educational materials.
- Collect email addresses from those who show interest so that you can follow up with them and send them more information on your cause. Following up is a great way to engage with people who care about your cause.
- Have a good time! Supporting a cause and telling others about why your cause is important to you should be fun!
